

The Human-Orca Connection

Reflected in the stories and culture of the Northwest
Coast First Peoples

Johnny Moses, carrier of the ancient teachings

Sunday, February 11, 2006, 3:30 pm

2220 NW Market Street, in Ballard

$10 Suggested donation

(206) 329-1794

www.SeattleMetaphysicalLibrary.org

Johnny Moses is trained memorizer who carries the medicine teachings of his Northwest Coast ancestors. Raised by elders in remote Nootka villages on Vancouver Island, British Columbia, he has a multitribal ancestry that includes the Nootka, Saanich, Snohomish, Dwamish, and Chehamus peoples. He trained under seven traditional medicine teachers and is fluent in eight native languages.